Study Tips

Prepare before class
Review notes from last class
look through chapter to understand basic idea of this class
May take 20-30 mins, but makes a huge difference.

When in doubt, write it down
Don't write everything, though! (Main Points, Main Ideas)
Don't spend too long deciding if you should write it down

Thin your notes
Don't write everything! Leave out words.
Use abbreviations - include a key of specific-for-the lecture abbreviations. E.g.: A lecture about King Henry VIII will require you to repeat his name several times. Instead of writing it out each time, make a note: King Henry VIII = H. Or, if that would be confused with King Henry VII, abbreviate it as: King Henry VIII = B.

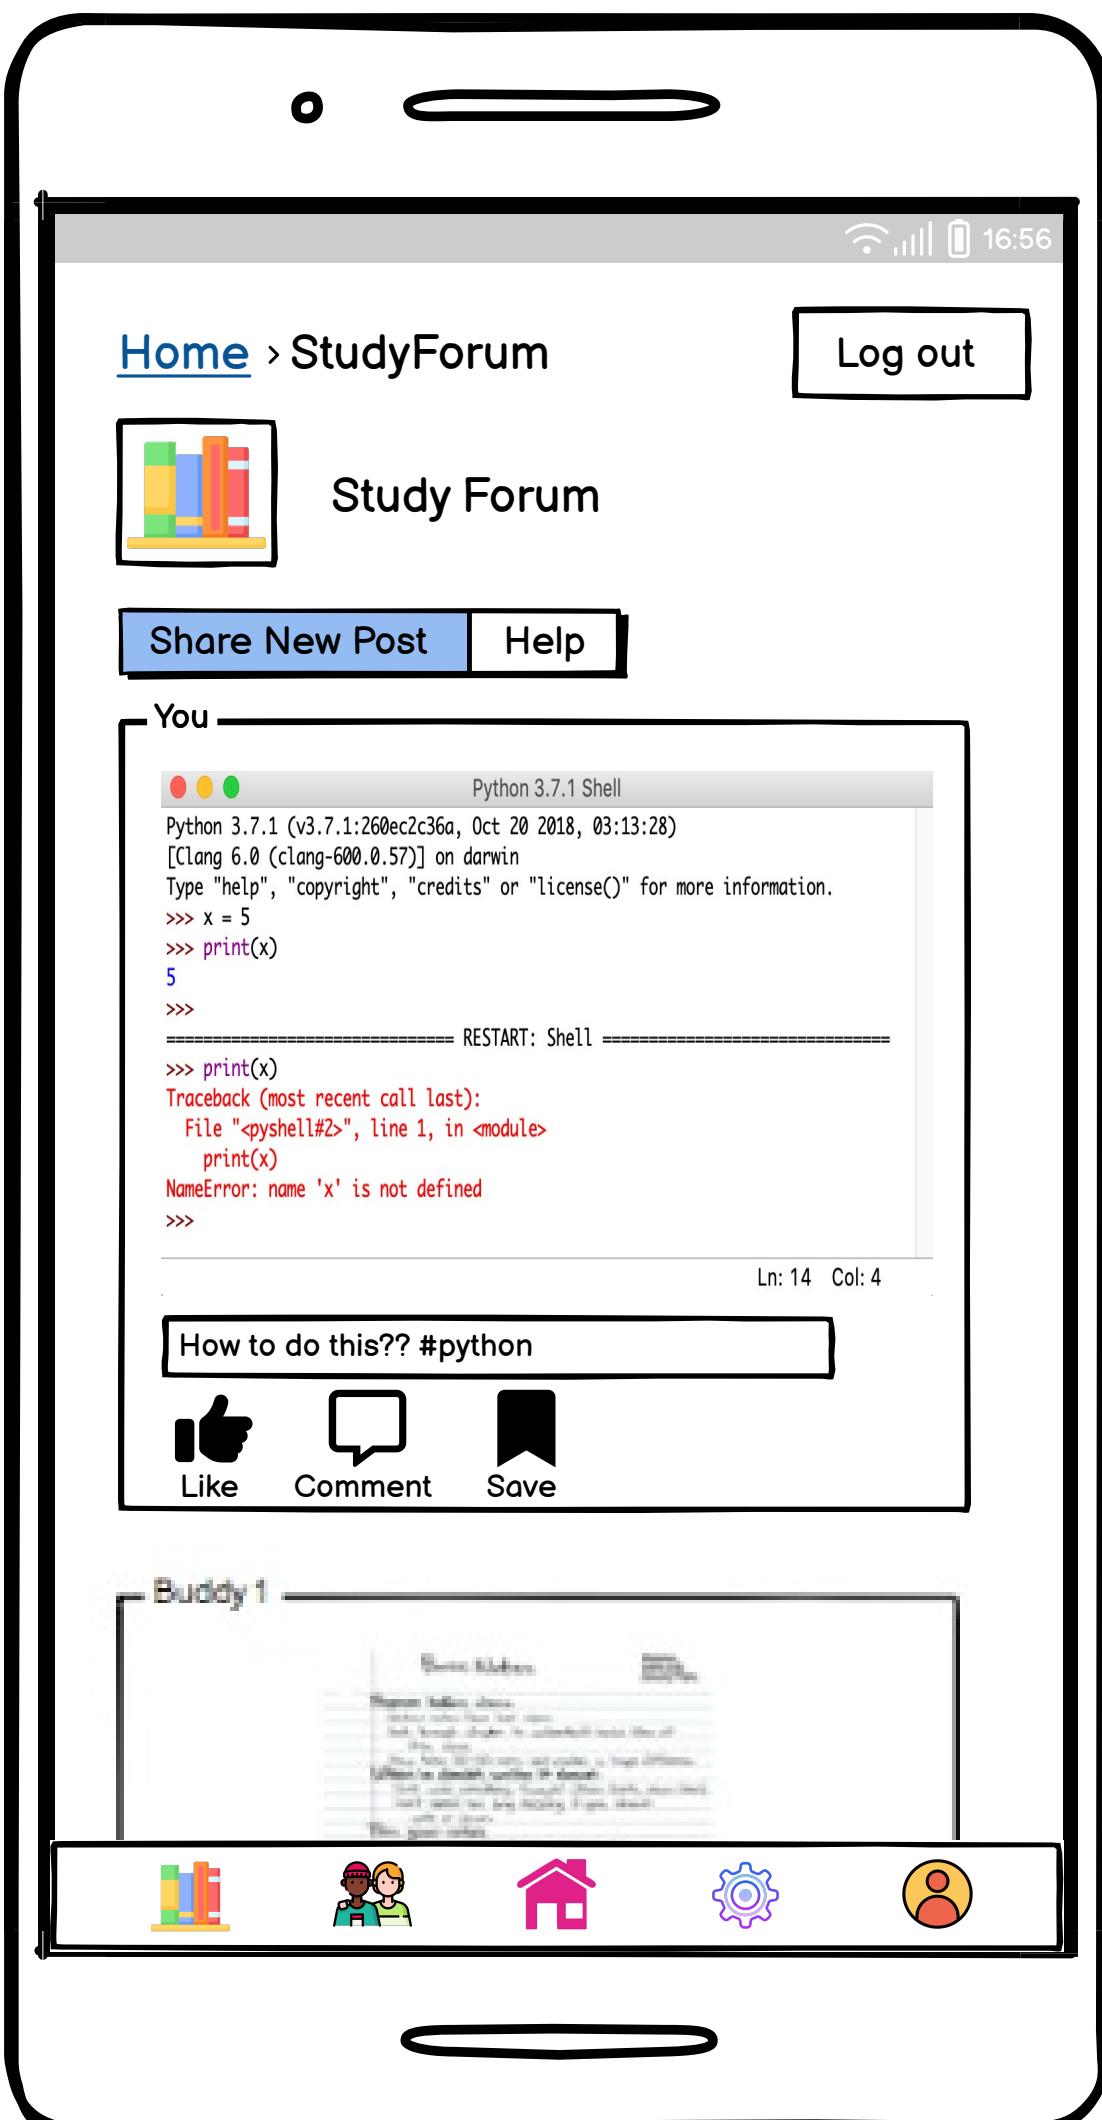

Know your prof
Use the note-taking method that will best help you with this particular prof's lectures.
A more organized prof works well with the Cornell style. Use the note-taking method for visual learners for a prof that jumps around and returns to previous points.
Show the prof your notes after the first lecture and ask if you are hitting main points.

Study Tips

Prepare before class:
Review notes from last class.
Look through chapter to understand basic idea of the topic.
This will take 20-30 mins, but makes a huge difference.

When in doubt, write it down:
Don't write everything though! (Main Points, main Ideas).
Don't spend too long deciding if you should write it down.

This your notes:
Don't write everything! Leave out words like 'the', 'a', 'an', etc. Abbreviate where possible. Use a key of specific terms and abbreviations to help you revise later. For example, King Henry VIII will require you to repeat his name several times. Instead of writing it out each time, make a note: King Henry VIII = H. Or, if that doesn't work, abbreviate with K. King Henry VII, abbreviate it as King Henry VII = K.

Know your prof:
Use the note-taking method that will best help you with your particular prof's lectures. If you're unsure of what method to use, the Cornell style. Use the note-taking method for visual learners for a prof that jumps around and returns to previous points.

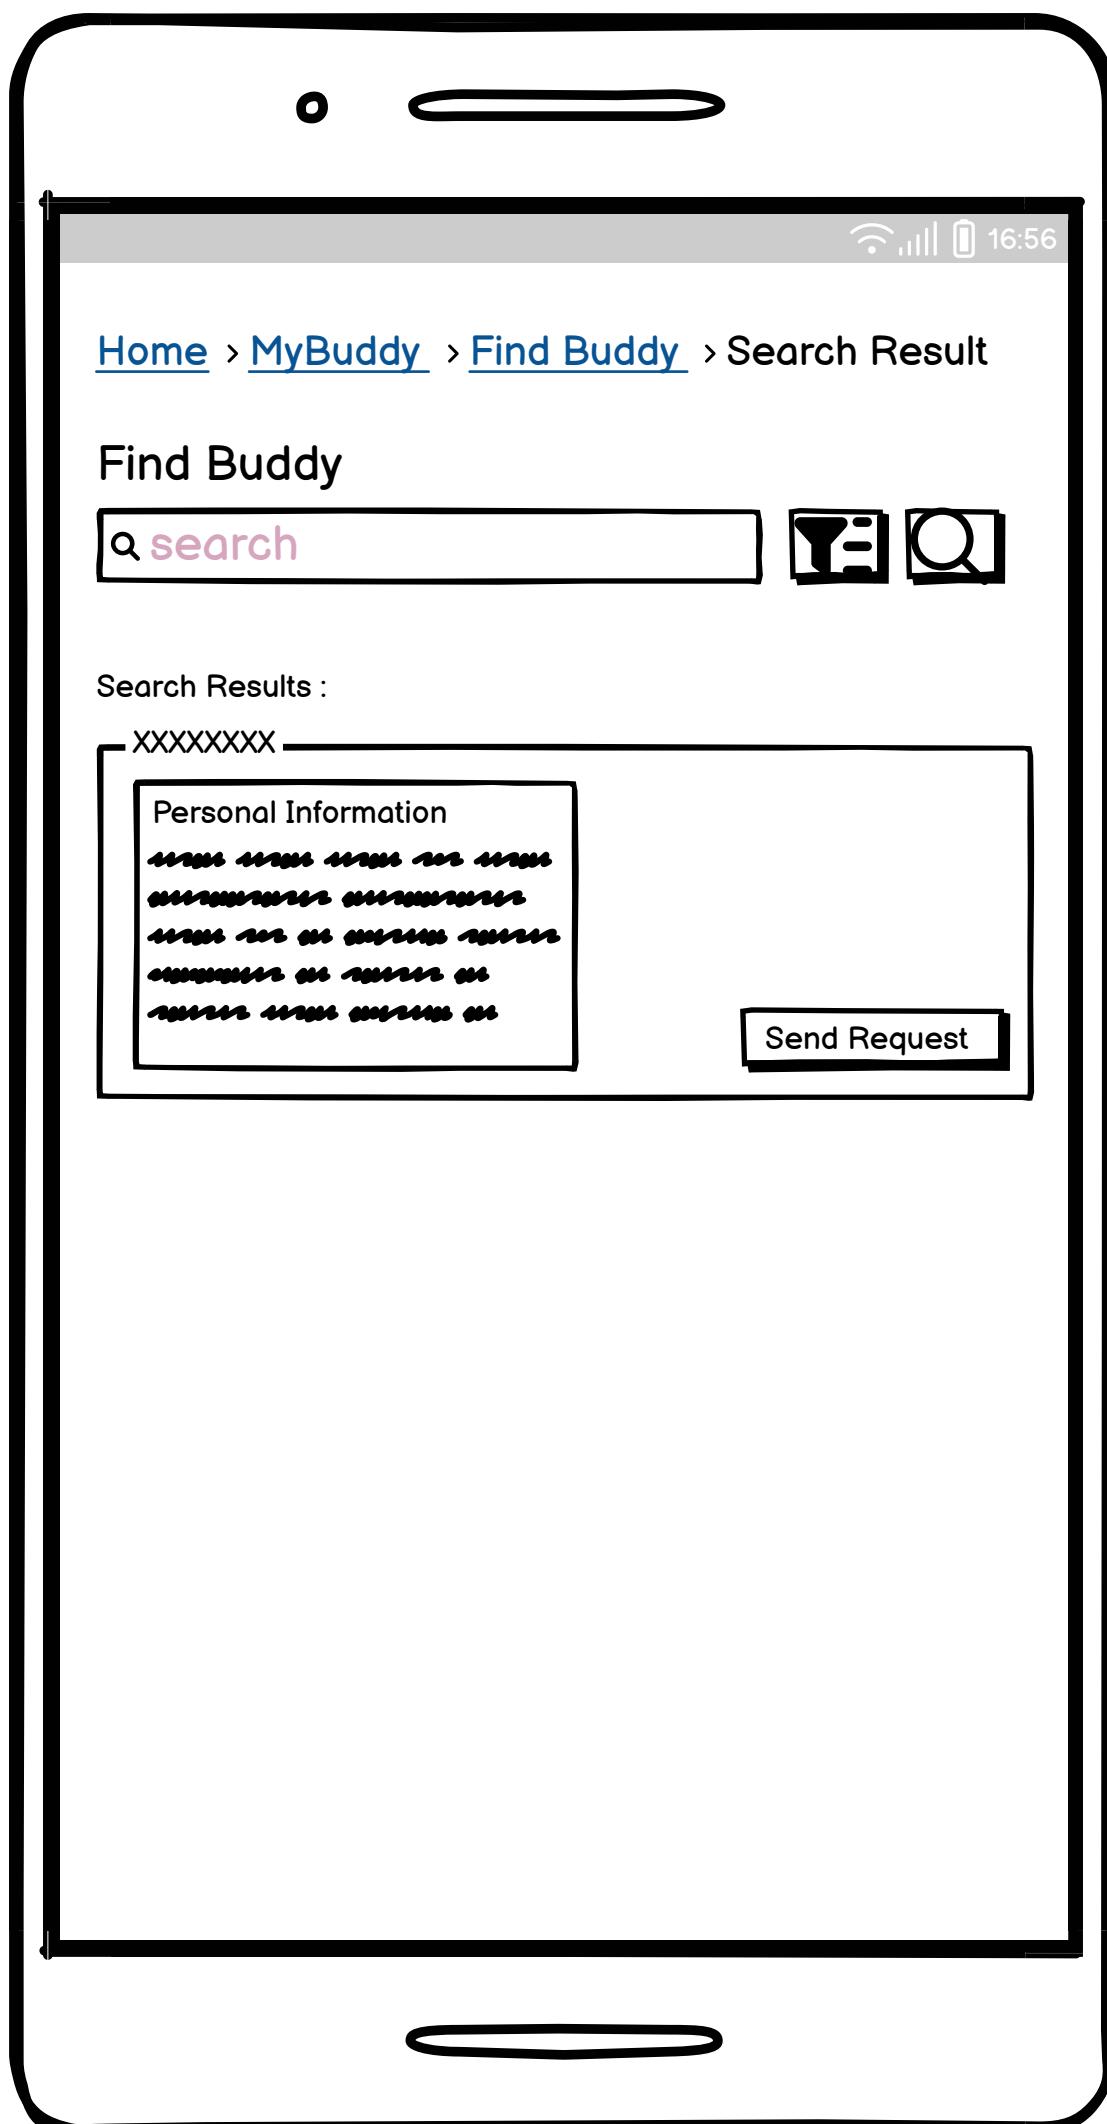

Show the prof your notes after the first lecture and ask if you are hitting main points.

Use abbreviations, like the key of subjects for King Henry VIII: H = King, H = Henry, etc.

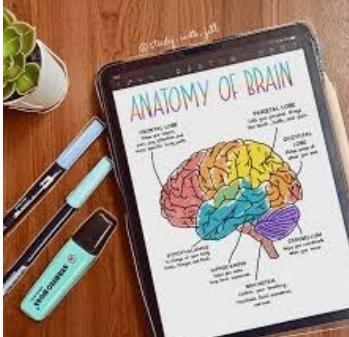

King Henry VIII will require you to repeat his name several times. Instead of writing it out each time, make a note: King Henry VIII = H. Or, if that would confuse with King Henry VII, abbreviate it as King Henry VIII = B.

Know your prof

Use the note-taking method that will best help you with this particular professor's lecture.

If they are organized or work well with the Cornell style, use the note-taking method for visual learners for a prof that jumps around and returns to previous points.

Show the prof your notes after the first lecture and make it clear if you are hitting main points.
